From the Buffalo (N. Y.) Advertiser, Nov. 22. What's in the Wind?

We noticed, some days since, that by the orders of the commander-in-chief of the forces at Quebec, a larger quantity of powder was allowed the several regiments garrisoned at that city than in former years, and that they were practicing daily. A late Quebec journal contains a correspondence between the mayor of that city and the comman der of the forces relative to the above, in which it appears that the firing of the heavy pieces of canappears that the firing of the heavy pieces of cannon by the soldiers has caused great destruction of property, by breaking glass and shaking walls, &c. A meeting of the Common Council was had,
and a message sent to the commander-in chief, requesting him to desist; to which he replied that he could not, as he was acting under orders, and that if the mayor would suggest any other place than the St. Charles river where the men might practice, he would give orders to that effect

It is to be presumed that the Imperial government has sufficient knowledge of the strength and resources of the United States, and the feelings of the Canadians, to be aware that the whole power of Europe could not preserve the authority of Great Britain in North America in case of a war between the countries. In this contingency, we should throw such a force across the line that no resistance could be offered. The States on the frontier contain at least ten millions of inhabitants, equal to our aggregate population in 1812, when Canada would have fallers but for the determination of the administration that we should have no more free territory. Such a resolve would be of no avail in another contest, for the Northern States would unite on the subject, and aweep away all opposition, from every quarter.

The slaveholders, who are so clamorous for the consequences of its acquisition. There is no future event more certain than that we cannot proceed against Cuba without involving ourselves in a war with both England and France. A correspondent of the Cologne Gazette writes from Madrid to the effect that a secret treaty has been concluded with France, according to which that power has pledged itself to protect Spain in the possession of the Island of Cuba. All commanders of French vessels of war at present on transatlantic stations have received orders from the government to place themselves under orders of the Captain General of Cuba. Three French vessels of war have been already for some time in Cuban ports, and to the Spanish squadron on that station the St. Edward, of eightysix guns, will shortly be added. Other accounts inform us that England has a similar treaty with Spain. But whether she has a formal understanding of the kind with Spain or not, it is impossible to suppose that she would permit the key to the Gulf to pass into the pos be glad to know whether these warlike preparaons are intended to resist flibustiering expeditions

COTTON AND COTTON PICKING.—Some twentyfive or thirty years ago the parish of Iberville, and the country around Baton Rouge, was considered the heart of the cotton-growing region, and its northern limit was not believed to extend higher than the mouth of the Yazoo river. When the fine lands on Lake Washington, Washington county, Mississippi, were first settled, it was considered a hazardous experiment to plant cotton there, from the apprehensions of early frosts, and planting on the Mississippi, above the mouth of the Arkanasa, was too precarious to be thought of by any planter south of Vicksburg.

A great change has taken place either in the climate, or, what is more probable, in the acclimation of the plant. It is now grown successfully even above Memphis, and the mouth of Arkanasa river may be set down as the centre of the cottongrowing region of the delts. A bale to the acre (450 lbs. net) is the average product of that whole district; while the lands in Iberville and Baton Rouge, formerly so productive have ceased to yield the cotton planter a good return, but have greatly augmented in value by their extraordinary adaptation to the sugar cane, and the astonishing yield of that staple, even on soils apparently exhausted, and which had literally refused to produce either cotton or corn.

These are curious results, well worthy of scienduce either cotton or corn.

These are curious results, well worthy of scientific investigation.—New Orleans Courier.

A REMARKABLE Dog. - An exchange paper eaks of a dog of remarkable propensities for speaks of a dog of remarkable propensities for finisic, and gifted with a taste for piano-forte playing.

A friend of ours, who frequents a club where puns are the order of the day, has brought a very intel ligent pointer dog to such a point of training that whenever he hears a good pun he immediately "points;" whilst an atrocious bad one sends him off yelping as if in pain, with his tail between his legs. This remarkable dog has a knack of concealing his intelligence and education under an air of slouching ignorance and stupidity. It is only to the club puns that he responds. We have some idea of purchasing him and sending him to the World's Fair at New York as a specimen of American industry, and as an ally to a dog of ours, who, whenever he meets a non-paying subscriber or advertiser, is immediately seized with dog fits, and yelps so as to alarm the whole neighborhood.
This dog is not for sale.—N. O. Picayune.

TRAVELLING VILLAGE BOUND FOR QUEBEC .- A Thavelling Village Bound for Quesic.—A rait, or rather a tull regiment of rafts, extending a quarter of a mile in length, and a little over half that amount in breadth, was towed in near the windmill, at the Canada side, on Sunday morning, and put up for its destination in tow of a steamboat yesterday. There were no less than fifty-one good-sized and well-built timber shanties ecattered over this little village, and the villagers, to the number of some one hundred subjects or citizens, we canof some one hundred subjects or citizens, we cannot say which, appeared in their best 'holiday sheen,' consisting of red shirt, broad straw hat and long mad boots drawn over the lower part of the trowers.—Ogdensburg News.

FLIGHT OF THE WILD GOOSE.—Coming up on the express train the other day, it so happened that on leaving Fonda a flock of some thirty wild geese swept over into the valley of the Mohawk just as the cars were under way. The geese being manifestly bewildered, kept on steadily up the river, but well over on the opposite side of the valley; hence a good chance to compare their speed with the "lightaing train" was afforded. At first it seemed to be about an "even thing." but after a few moments it was readily perceivable that the geese were drawing ahead of the locomotive After as few minutes, the flock seemed half inclined to drop down into the Mahawk, and abated much their speed—the engine recovering the lost ground; but the geese though better of it, changed front, sought a greater elevation, and pushed ahead again in the same direction of the train. By this time the race became quite exciting, and one could hardly refrain from exclaiming, "Go, engine, pair in goose;" but there was no need of exhortation, as both seemed letting out about all they knew—the geese gradually drawing ahead till within a short distance of Little Falls, when the bevy hauled up in the wind's eye, shivered a mement and stood down the river again, having gained in the race about two miles. The geese must have been going, when last seen, at the rate of sixty or seventy miles the hour. This is the first race we have seen between a locomotive and the feathered race, and though the latter had the best of it, the former did well considering it was compelled to carry weight.

BALTIMORE CORRESPONDENCE.

Thankegiving Day - Dull Times - Fire - The Mar-kets, &c.
BALTIMORE, November 26-5 p. m. Thankegiving day was observed yesterday in this city very generally, all business being suspended, and sermons preached in most of the churches. It resembled the Sabbath in other ways also, as the New Market engine company took their tour in search of a riot, and were, as usual on the Sabbath, quite successful. There is nothing new stirring in the city, and it seems there is but little elsewhere, as not one item has been received by telegraph from any quarter during the past forty hours. Whether it be the thanksgiving influence or the bad weather that has checked affairs I cannot say, as the wires are all in good order, and the operators at their posts The glass-house of Mesers. Garden, Lawson & Co, at Spring Garden, was destroyed by fire yesterday, and the large malt house of John Boyd & Son, adjoining, was considerably damaged.

LOGAL MATTERS.

THEFT. On Thursday last officer Wollard arested a man calling himself Charles Roché, on a charge of having stolen from the residence of Major General Scott a handsome walking stick, intrinsi-cally worth about ten dollars, but much more highly valued by the distinguished owner as a souvenir. It was offered for sale to Meine Uttermuhle, who gave a dollar and a quarter for it, and who, suspecting a larceny had been committed, purchased the article for the express purpose of restoring it to the general; which he did, at the same time imparting the information which led to the arrest of the thief. After a hearing of the case, Justice Smith committed the accused to prison, in default of bail, to await trial during the ensuing term of the criminal court.

THANKSGIVING DAY .- Thursday was observe as a season of thanksgiving and praise, as well as one of social intercourse, family reunions, and good cheer. Business in the various Departments of the Government, at the public works, and throughout the city, was generally suspended, imparting a Sabbath-like appearance to the national metropolis. The morning was cloudy, betokening rain, which fell during the afternoon and night; and thus was prevented the promenade usually industrial on helicity. dulged on holiday occasions; but, notwithstanding, the time was pleasantly occupied, and, so far as we know, but little, if any thing, transpired to produce a regret that the day had been set apart for repose from secular pursuits and for a formal throughout the past year we have been so graciou
